

Value your values

...small tweaks make a big difference...

A dark blue diagonal gradient bar that starts from the bottom left corner and extends towards the top right corner, covering the bottom half of the slide.

crafting relationships

Domino effect

A domino effect or chain reaction is the cumulative effect produced when one event sets off a chain of similar events

Telegraph.co.uk/video

Example

(good and not so good)

Impact

Solutions

(small, manageable tweaks)

Example one

At Local History Cafes, we ask that teapots, cups, milk, sugar, cakes etc are placed on tables instead of facilitators serving people.

- Why do you think we do this?
- What is the domino effect of:
 - a) Serving people
 - b) Placing items on tables
- How do we better support teams to understand?

Example two

One Local History Cafe speaker was a bit of a shocker and I could see a new participant was put off when the presentation got political and personal.

- What could a domino effect look like on that participant if:
 - a) No follow up action is taken with them
 - b) Follow up action is taken (what might that be?)
- How do we better support teams to understand?

Example three

Are you sitting comfortably?

A dark blue, solid-colored shape that starts from the bottom left corner and extends diagonally upwards to the right, covering the bottom half of the slide.

Let's change that.

A dark blue, solid-colored shape that starts as a thin line at the bottom left and expands diagonally upwards to the right, filling the bottom right portion of the white background.

“Have you got M.E?”

Example three

- What could a domino effect look like on all involved if:
 - a) I walked away from the project
 - b) I persevered with the project

What would you do?

No time

Over stretched

Busy

Busy

Stressed

Over stretched

No time

No time

Busy

Stressed

www.craftingrelationships.co.uk

Twitter: @carparkthinker

Instagram: @craftingrelationships

Phone: 07908 750187

Thank-you